

On October 15, in ceremonies sponsored by the Historical Society, three additional portraits of mayors of Carbondale were unveiled in City Council Chambers at the conclusion of the October meeting of City Council. These portraits will become a part of the permanent exhibition of mayors' portraits in Council Chambers. The exhibition curator is Joseph Pascoe, the treasurer of the Historical Society.

On October 16, the Society participated in an historic preservation seminar, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, that took place in City Council Chambers. The seminar was titled Historic Preservation: Growing Smarter by Preserving Your Community's Historic Assets.

On November 16-18, the Society sponsored, in conjunction with the Waymart Area Historical Society and the Wayne County Historical Society, a symposium on the D&H Railroad. The 3-day symposium took place at Ladore Lodge, Waymart. The leading authorities on the D&H participated in this symposium, which was attended by 150 railfans, scholars, and researchers.

On Sunday, December 9, the 18th Annual Carbondale Christmas Concert by the Crystal Band took place in the Berean Baptist Church, Carbondale. This annual concert is sponsored by the Historical Society and the Berean Baptist Church as a Christmas gift to the community as a whole. Refreshments were served following the concert. As always, the concert was a joyful and inspiring event.

On December 12th, the Society's annual Christmas Dinner took place at Pettinato's Restaurant, Carbondale. Fifty members and friends attended the event, which was, in every respect, a complete success. Society member Rose Martin offered the invocation at the beginning of the evening. In the course of the dinner meeting, "Distinguished Achievement Awards in Historical Preservation" were presented to Mr. and Mrs. John Price (Manville/Price House), Mr. and Mrs. James Reilly (McGranaghan/Reilly House), and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Coleman (Krantz/Coleman House). Many members and friends were heard to say that this year's annual Christmas dinner meeting was very special and most enjoyable.

And all year long, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Komorowsky, the Society's genealogical research center on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall was open to the public and, thanks to the conscientious and skilled assistance of Mrs. Komorowsky, hundreds of genealogists and researchers were able to learn more about their ancestors and family history. We are very fortunate to have Frances with us.

It was a good year. Thanks again for your support through membership.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell

12-24-01- Christmas Eve. Emotionally and physically, I'm all set for Christmas - a conventional / traditional Christmas. But it's not going to be one. DWPTII will not arrive here until Wednesday - and so Wednesday will be Christmas Eve. at 7 P.M. tonight, I went to a Christmas Eve service at the Trinity Episcopal Church on River Street in Carbondale. It felt good to be there - although their communion service is very complicated. Aubrey Staple, Eleanor Spellman, Nan "Spellman" (Eleanor's sister) and a number of others that I know were there - in addition to Father Steve Matylewicz. On my way into town this afternoon, I heard a recording of Dylan Thomas reading his "A Child's Christmas in Wales."

very amusing. I must see if I can borrow a copy through the Carbondale Public Library. It's every bit as wonderful as Truman Capote's "A Christmas Memory." What Capote and Thomas are saying — and what I am feeling very keenly tonight — is that we all have very special "Christmas memories." As we get older, I think that most of us celebrate Christmas in the memories that we have of Christmases past. Is it any wonder that the present realities of Christmas seem very pale in comparison to the intense memory packages that surface at times such as these.

As a Christmas present to myself I made a batch of the Russell family Hermits — Mom + Grandma Russell made them a lot; I came across "the" recipe in Maggie Jones' hand & with her signature. So I guess it was she who started the recipe and then passed it around the family. It is a delicious cookie, to be sure.

Margaret Russell (sister of my maternal grandfather) married Samuel Sheldon Jones.

I then made a double batch of Scotch oak cakes (using a recipe I got from Emma Jones, Kingsley). also delicious. When DWP II gets here for Christmas, I will get him involved in making the family recipe for Welsh cookies.

12-25-01-2

also gingerbread cookies — which he and I have made at Christmas for a number of years. We also decorate them. Maybe tomorrow — certainly some time this Christmas season — I will make a recipe of Banbury tarts. What I may well do is make them tomorrow and then give them as presents to DWP, DWP II, Peg, and Joe Pascoe. The plan now is to have Christmas dinner on Thursday (12/27) at about 5 P.M. I will roast a turkey and make it a conventional / traditional Christmas dinner: turkey, mashed potatoes, rutabagas, holiday breads from Cousin Peg, <sup>→ "plum"</sup> ~~suet~~ pudding for dessert. We may also have Red Swiss Chard & Carrots with dinner.

said to be a favorite

12-26-01-1 Banbury Tarts, 920 P.M. <sup>2249</sup>

Minutes ago, I took 28 Banbury Tarts out of the oven. The house is filled with the sumptuous aroma of pie crust baking, raisins, <sup>lemons</sup> + nuts: an unforgettable combination and a very loud and clear proclamation of home and hearth. OWP II and his father are due to arrive in about 10 minutes. I think it very important that OWP II walk in <sup>this</sup> house to such aromas and sensory packages. He will forever associate them with here, home, and want them here when all this is his. Such sensory packages will, in other words, always be inseparable from his understanding of what the Russell Homestead must be. I've never made Banbury tarts before. They're rather straightforward to make — although not something that the novice cook would want to try. Such tarts, we learn from the Betty Crocker cookbook (where I found the recipe), were a favorite with Charles II of England. I will be anxious to see how DWP & DWP II respond to them.

12-26-01-2

Another thing that I always do before DWP II arrives for a weekend or a vacation is to make sure his room — the best bedroom in the house — is immaculately clean & in order and that the bed has clean sheets on it and is beautifully made. Cleanliness and order — Russell/Homestead.

12-27-01-1 We opened Christmas presents<sup>2251</sup>

Joe Pascoe — all seated in the

2 — American flag book & flag from

3 — 4 "Miss Maple" viders from

4 — Beautiful duck-on-nest casserole

Indian mythological print
of a woman riding a swan
in flight; also a copy of the book Rehearsal's off by George Booth. Very amusing cartoons, many about cats.

This present-opening session took place after a formal dinner at the table in the dining room; roast turkey, mashed potatoes & gravy, stuffing, mashed rutabaga, Cousin Peg's nut & Cranberry breads, red swiss Chard. Darjeeling tea & Plum Pudding. Dinner was very nice and everything that I hope it would be and made plans for dinner & cooked it. Used Mom's <sup>wedding</sup> Wontake china, silver & linens (tablecloth & napkins) and goblets. We all had a grand time.

Presents Given 2001

Peg: Framed print of "Little Girl and Doll and Big Doll in a Landscape"

DWP II: Stephen Beisty's "Incredible Cross-Sections," written by Richard Platt; Knopf, 1992

Peg: "Treasured Recipes Friends and Family of Holy Residence, Scranton, PA"

DWP: Video of "Don Giovanni," a film by Joseph Losey; video of "The Nebraska Heritage Collection Barn Again": four antique wooden-shafted golf woods

DWP II: "The book of Fishes," published in 1939 by the National Geographic Society

DWP: two books on American antiques: "American Glass" (from the pages of "Antiques" magazine; "Treasury of American Antiques"

DWP II: "Moby Dick" in paperback

DWP: "Things Seen in Venice," by L. and L. M. Ragg, published by Dutton in 1912

Joe Pascoe: 15-inch high ceramic pitcher of Admiral Nelson

12-30-01-1 This afternoon PWP II and I mixed up a double batch of Gingerbread cookies (pp. 198-99 of the 1950 edition of Betty Crocker's Picture Cookbook).

Tonight after supper we will roll out, cut, and bake the cookies — and then decorate them. We have done this for several years now and it is an experience that we both look forward to.

Once the gingerbread cookie dough was mixed and set aside to chill, we then mixed up a batch of Welsh cookies (Gwen Owens — Mrs. Hills recipe) — from Mom's recipe file. These are the best Welsh cookies there are. When we were adding the nutmeg, we got a little carried away and put in about  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon too much nutmeg — the flavor of nutmeg

still warm <sup>2256</sup>

is a bit too strong in the finished product. We grated a whole nutmeg, naturally, and there was more than the teaspoon called for, so we put it in. Given the intensity of the freshly-grated nutmeg as well as the fact that we put in "a little extra" resulted in the extra strong nutmeg punch of the <sup>still warm from the oven</sup> finished product.

Now that the cookies have cooled to room temperature, the intensity of the nutmeg has diminished considerably — and the cookies are quite wonderful.

How comforting it is to think about the possibility that maybe 50 years from now, DWP II will recall our cookie-making afternoons and evenings at Christmas time.

one of the things that I must do is make Xerox copies of the 100 or so major family recipes and include them in Mom's papers in the family history. Those recipes are an integral component of my memory package and I want to be sure that they are available 100 years from now.

7-10 P.M. - Gingerbread cookies. We made and decorated about 80 cookies. The first cookies to be cut out were made using Margaret Russell's Cookie cutter - about 3" in diameter, fluted edge - handle is missing. Wonderful evening - we both had a grand time. DWP II made a few "sports" cookies - hand cut out in the shape of footballs, basketballs. We even made some free-hand abstract shapes this year.

1-1-02-1 Very productive and enjoyable day.
 The day began with about 2 hours of poultry
 Chores, including arrangements for a setting hen that hatched out some chicks during the night: another Buff Minorca, a couple of B.B. Red American Game fantails — more eggs to hatch today. Partridge Rock now laying well and I get about 6<sup>eggs</sup> every day from the hens in the<sup>2</sup> feeding pens. Turned on an incubator today and put 64 eggs in it — mostly PPR, but also some <sup>std.</sup> Black Cochins, and Silver-Penciled Rock. The fertile eggs that are in the incubator
 will hatch on the Tuesday following the Congress show.

Came down the house and decided to clean, thoroughly, the fish tank.
 Had some tea and then asked DWP II
 if he felt like going for a walk up to Merli-Sarnoski Park. He liked the idea, and away we went — through the cow pasture and directly up the mountain. Saw turkey tracks + bear tracks + rabbit tracks — also racoon + probably Coyote. When we got to the top of the mountain

we were treated to the sight and sound of three very large flocks
of Canadian Geese; then <sup>one</sup> gigantic flock (200+) <sup>trilling</sup>.
We arrived at the pond — frozen with about 4" of Crystal Clear ice. We walked around the pond on the ice and had a grand time.
You could see the bottom of the pond through the Clear ice. as we walked on the ice, we clearly had the impression that we were walking on water. Doreen was having a wonderful time &
that gave me a lot of pleasure.

We came down the mountain via the auto road. DWP was in the kitchen when we returned. He had been to the store & was making grilled ham &

following our 2-hour jaunt.

I prepared two packages of ginger-

love to see how the cookies are
